

THE FACE OF POETRY: Portraits by Margaretta K. Mitchell

Limited Edition Print

This limited edition print features black and white portraits of a significant selection of remarkable American poets from The Face of Poetry, published by the University of California Press.

The Face of Poetry, by Margaretta K. Mitchell with co-author Zack Rogow and a preface by Robert Hass, features these portraits set in conversation with their poems.

The edition consists of three hundred prints on 22 x 30 inch acid-free, 100% rag Arches water-color paper from France that meets the highest archival standards.

The edition is being printed by Joshua Partridge especially for Elysian Editions. After taxes and expenses all proceeds from the sale of this print will benefit the tour.

Prints are available for $130 each
Orders of five or more are available for $80 each

Please note: Prices may rise as the edition sells. Use order form for one print or the five print purchase. All ground FedEx/UPS shipping and tax are included. Special shipping expenses will be charged.

Artist:

Margaretta K. Mitchell is a photographer, writer and educator who exhibits her fine art photography nationally. She is the author of five books, (including Recollections: Ten Women of Photography, Viking Press, 1979, for which she also created a traveling show that was exhibited at seventeen American museums, and Ruth Bernhard: Between Art and Life, Chronicle Books, 2000) and is a contributor to many more books and publications. Her work is in the permanent collections of the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art, Stanford University Museum, The Oakland Museum, The New York Public Library, Princeton University, UCLA, The Bancroft Library at the University of California, Berkeley, Smith College Museum and the Royal Print Collection, Windsor, England, among others, including many private collections.

Printer:

Joshua Partridge has worked for four years to develop a digital printing technique to resemble the platinum process for the Imogen Cunningham Trust. He is Imogen's grandson and has a special sensitivity to the nuances of black and white photography.
